Schenk Elementary, built in 1954, and located near the eastern shore of Lake Monona and behind the Olbrich Gardens, was one of the first fully accessible elementary schools built in Madison, WI at the beginning of the enrollment boom of the 1950s and 1960s. The school was added onto three times in the next decade to include programming through the 8th grade. Today, the school is paired with Whitehorse Middle School to form a 5K through 8th grade campus. Over the decades, Schenk has been a leader in inclusive programs, culturally and linguistically relevant practices, comprehensive literacy, social emotional learning, and Welcoming Schools.

School Principal: Susan Abplanalp

In 2018 the school received the National Seal of Excellence for Welcoming Schools. We have many community partnerships and find them integral to the work. Schenk was adopted by the Schools of Peace organization in 2017. Schenk also holds many quality family engagement activities throughout the year, connecting families to the school and building a strong school community. This coming school year will be Schenk's third year of implementing a 50/50 Spanish and English dual language immersion program into the school beginning with kindergarten in 2016-17 and adding first grade in 2017-18 and adding second grade this current school year. We value our diverse and rich heritage that makes up Schenk Elementary.
