When choosing supplies for school, please check the labels and try to avoid ingredients that can cause allergic reactions in some people. For some people, just touching a certain item can cause a serious reaction. Allergic reactions can be harmful and potentially fatal. Even though many allergies are related to food, even non-food items can contain allergens. For example, please avoid art dough which contains wheat, crayons which contain soy, and lotioned tissues (since the lotions often contain nut-based shea butter). For more information, visit the website of the Kids with Food Allergies Foundation at http://www.kidswithfoodallergies.org/resourcespre.php?id=83&.
